

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's or any other state's telephone privacy law protections. Before this law went into effect, it got to a point that I wouldn't answer my phone because it would always be a solicitor. Phone calls have gone from 5-6 calls a day from solicitors to almost none and I want to keep it that way. They are annoying and bothersome and an invasion of my privacy. These calls are unwanted. If I choose to purchase a service, I would like to seek it out on my own.
